PREPAREDNESS FACTS

DEMOCRATS HAVE ACTED WHILE
REPUBLICANS HAVE ONLY TALKED.

Cleveland Took First Step for Adequate Navy; Wilson Making It Second Largest.

From 1865, the close of the Civil war, to 1885 the Republicans were in control of the government at Washington.

In those twenty years Congress appropriated $340,365,852.52 for the navy.

When President Cleveland, the first Democratic president elected since the Civil war, took the oath of office on March 4, 1885, the American navy consisted of junk, wooden ships with old guns and broken down engines.

The American navy was a joke. When President Cleveland went out of office four years later the United States had its first squadron of modern warships, the famous "White Squadron," that carried the American flag to Europe and once more inspired respect for American seapower.

In a speech in the House only the other day, Representative Talbott, of Maryland, a member of the naval affairs committee, recalled that Col. Roosevelt in his administration, invited the Democratic members of the committee to go to the White House that he might ask them personally to vote for four battleships. On that occasion, said Mr. Talbott, Col. Roosevelt said:

"I am frank enough to admit that we could not have carried on the war with Spain successfully except for the navy that was furnished to the country during Cleveland's two administrations."

In twenty years the Republican party in Congress had spent $419,519,887.09 of the people's money and had nothing to show for it. Of this amount $73,145,034.57 represented unexpended balances from appropriations of previous years. The money had been wasted; it had gone to make contractors rich and to give employment to men at political navy yards to vote as their bosses dictated.

In four years, Cleveland's administration, the Democratic party spent $67,354,261.50 and had a squadron of modern ships to show for it. The money had been spent honestly and not for the enrichment of favored contractors and political bosses.

A Democratic President, a Democratic secretary of the navy and a Democratic Congress created the modern American navy and took the first step for PREPAREDNESS.

From 1897 to 1913—sixteen years—the Republicans were again in control of the government.

They thought so little of the navy they let it run down. It was the old system over again of favoritism and waste.

They could not see the wisdom of being PREPARED.

But in those sixteen years they spent $1,586,052,816.50.

The Republicans admit that under their administration the navy had not been kept up to high water mark and it was too weak properly to protect the United States against danger.

President Wilson came into office on March 4, 1913.

In three years the Democratic Congress has appropriated $545,892,771.18 for the navy, and when the program for which appropriations have been made at this session is completed the American navy will be the SECOND MOST POWERFUL NAVY IN THE WORLD, with only England superior. The Republicans TALK. The Democrats ACT.

Republicans waste money. Democrats spend money efficiently.

If the country wants to feel certain it is safe from attack and have its navy kept at the highest point of efficiency it will vote for the election of President Wilson and a Democratic Congress.

Democrats go into this campaign on a record of accomplishment never approached by any party with only four years of control of the Government behind them. Republicans go in with only a promise that they will not repeat the disaster of their last four years of opportunity.

LIVESTOCK

Kansas City, Monday, June 26, 1916—The course in cattle prices most of last week was downward. Receipts were liberal, quality showed a plainer case and killers increased the spread in prices accordingly. Prime grades held steady, and fed and grass fat steers were off 25 to 35 cents. This decline caused a falling off in the movement today, and moderate strength appeared in the trade. Here receipts were 3,000 less, than a week ago, and the same as a year ago. Most of the grass fat and short fed steers sold at $8.25 to $9.50, and better grades brought $9.75 to $10.50. Nothing strictly prime was offered. On the quarantine side, steers sold at $6 to $9.10. With wheat harvest well under way in Southern Kansas, and spreading northward, and Tuesday of next week a national holiday, commission men say supplies will be small until nearly the middle of July. Cows and heifers have not changed much in price and today they were in active demand. Veal calves are bringing $7 to $11, and bulls $5 to $8. This is the slack season for stock and feeding cattle, but the few offered are finding a ready outlet at $7.25 to $8.50. After advancing 25 to 30 cents last week's hog prices declined moderately, and today turned up again and were within five cents of the highest point last week. The top price today was $9.95 and the bulk of the hogs sold at $9.65 to $9.90. Considering the liberal receipts the market is unusual both as to outlet and prices. Last week's $10 hogs were the first that ever crossed Kansas City scales at that price in June, and 70 cents above the high point in any previous June.

Demand for sheep last week was active, but today killers took off 25 to 50 cents and put the price list for lambs under 11 cents. The bulk of the offerings today came from the Southwest and were spring lambs that sold at $10.25 to $10.85. Some clipped ewes brought $6.75.

THE BREAD PROBLEM

You need not read this unless you eat bread. You know this flour proposition has been fierce for some time, and I have been looking for a flour that I thought would do to trust, and as good luck would have it, I found where I could get the an old reliable brand that I have handled for years before coming to this country, and have never found any thing to equal it. It is backed with an Iron Clad Guarantee—use half the sack and if not satisfactory return the other half and get your money back. I am now unloading a car and want everybody that eats bread to try it. I have a number of 2 pound sample sacks. Don't fail to call for one. I have many other things in my store that I want to sell and I want to buy everything you have to sell that I can turn into money. Be sure to see us before buying.

Yours for an honest deal,

W. B. Jones & Co.

THE REASON WHY--

many people never have their share of this world's good things is because they fail to cooperate with their own interests, many of them without thinking to be sure, but never-the-less to their own injury.

For Instance: If you are not patronizing your home bank you are not cooperating with one of your best interests. You surely know that a good safe bank in your community substantially enhances the value of your land. It helps you get a better sale for your cattle and produce by keeping constantly on the alert to bring buyer and seller together to the best advantage. It is not altogether through selfish motives that your home bank solicits your cooperation, but the interests are mutual. We need your patronage and cooperation to increase our strength and ability. You need your home bank at its best strength and ability, for it speaks well for your community, enhances the value of all your property, finances your business in a pinch and keeps the wolf from the door. We need you. You need us. Let's cooperate, we will meet you half way.

Good Rain in Kenna Country

The heavy rain clouds which were visible to the northeast

last night from this city, is said to have spilled its contents in the Kenna range country much to the delight of the stock interests in that section. The extent of the rain could not be determined from reports today but it is thought to have covered a wide area in the vicinity of the Kenna town. —Roswell News.

To the above clipping from The Roswell Evening News of June 28th, we wish to say that Kenna enjoyed the usual "New Mexico Rain" on above date, viz: a gale of sufficient velocity to stir the soil to the usual farming depth, changing some from one field to another and doing the general "hilling up" act. Occasionally a little cloud could be seen in the distance, but so far as heard from (which is about 40 miles in each direction) we fail to learn of any of the much needed moisture being showered upon us which is required to "delight the stock interests".
